X-Ray Study
Dr. L. J. Bristol

Enclosed are the individual reports of x-ray interpretations made by Dr. L. J. Bristol. These are reported in the standard terminology and, therefore, can be of considerable value to Dr. Gidman.

They are not reported in the terms of the proposed UICC criteria, since they have not been universally accepted, and since one of the objectives of this study is to evaluate the validity of the new criteria.

The reports should not just be placed in file. As a minimum;

1. Those with positive findings should be reviewed by Dr. Gidman to determine whether any additional, local, immediate action is indicated.

2. Those for whom there are questions raised should be reviewed to determine what further action, if any, should be undertaken.

3. Those for which the quality of the film is commented on, should be reviewed to determine whether additional x-rays should be taken now or at the time of the next regular periodic examination.

4. If there are some with occupationally related conditions, not previously identified, you should review and consider whether the present work assignment and/or environment is appropriate.
