Thanks for the information in your memo of June 12.

We are particularly interested in receiving the information on cases there shown on a spread sheet, as discussed during our visit there. [illegible] we have termed a "special list" and would show information on cases that were considered to be the type that should be particularly noticed from time to time.

You may recall I left there some 16-column, yellow sheets that were to be used as a pattern. There were two sheets showing individuals on the salary payroll, and about seven sheets listing individuals on the hourly payroll. These sheets were made up here from the information that came in to Hugh Jackson on cards. Results of examinations for six or eight years were shown, making it possible to see across the sheet the changes, if any, in the determinations.

After several years of showing the information in various ways, this method has been accepted here as the best way of presenting it, and it is for that reason that the spread sheets were made from the cards so that they could be used as a pattern in making new sheets that would include only those cases considered to be the proper ones to be followed up.

In case the special list left with you cannot be located, which we would hope not to be the case, I am sending to you attached our own yellow spread sheets so that up-to-date sheets patterned after these can be prepared and forwarded to us as soon as possible.

Of course, it is a matter of the doctor's opinion as to what individuals should be shown on such a list, but we would expect them to be those whose examinations have shown sufficient changes to warrant that the cases be watched.

This information is, of course, highly confidential and we know that everyone involved will so consider it.

What is your estimate of the date we can expect to receive the sheets?
