COMPLAINT

The plaintiff, Verona Stepka, executrix of the estate of Joseph Stepka, deceased, residing at Manville, New Jersey, says that:-

1. The testator was in the employ of the defendant corporation at its plant in Manville, New Jersey, in the month of April, 1930, and for many years prior thereto.

2. The defendant corporation, at the time herein set forth, was engaged in the manufacture of asbestos products for commercial purposes.

3. The said defendant employed the testator at the time and place above set forth in its manufacture of said asbestos products, and the said defendant not only knew, but should have known, that the said asbestos products contained certain dangerous, insidious and harmful agencies composed of asbestos fibers and other particles that were destructive to life and health in the human body, when brought into close contact with the same.

4. The defendant not only knew, but should have known, the dangerous nature of said asbestos fibers and particles, but failed to keep the same in control, and was negligent in allowing the said dangerous fibers and particles to escape and to come into close proximity of the testator's person, and exposed the testator so that he came into contact with and inhaled the said dangerous fibers and particles to the extent that his bronchial

5. The testator was not informed or warned by the defendant, and had no knowledge of the nature of the said dangerous asbestos fibers and particles with which he was brought into close proximity, by reason of the negligence of the defendant.

(d) In failing to use reasonable care to give proper warning, information and knowledge about the dangerous character of its work with the said asbestos fibers and particles to the said testator, at the time and place above mentioned.

7. The said asbestos fibers and particles were introduced into the testator's body at the time and place aforesaid, so that the testaor was permanently injured, externally and internally, in and about his head, body and limbs, causing great pain and suffering both mental and physical, greatly lowered his resistance to disease, and he became a victim of pulmonary diseases, and died as a result thereof on August 14, 1931.

8. The said Joseph Stepka, left a will under which the plaintiff was made executrix of the estate of Joseph Stepka deceased.

9. The said Will was duly probated on December 26, 1931, and letters testamentary were thereupon granted to the plaintiff.

10. The testator, Joseph Stepka, left surviving his his wife, Verona Stepka and his daughter, Louise Stepka, Emily Stepka and Rosie Stepka, all dependent upon the

11. The plaintiff, as executrix as aforesaid, for to the benefit of the said next of kin, is vested by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, with a cause of action against the defendant, for negligently causin. the death of her testator, and brings this action within two years after the death of the said testator.
