Mr. Ira Brought called this morning and asked if we ever prepared a brochure on the health aspects of Kaylo dust similar to the one Bod Ames prepared for fiberglas some years ago.

We told him no. But the animal experiments at Saranac were written in a highly technical manner—and this is the only published material that has appeared.

We suggested he might not be too interested because the material is so technical. However, he wanted a reprint. We have sent him one with the attached letter. The article, of course, is not confidential but is available to anyone who takes the trouble to look it up in the technical literature.
