This is to confirm our discussions of January 11, 1974, regarding the packaging of RG-244 -

1. We will continue to use cardboard shrouds until the quantity now in inventory is exhausted. At that time use of shrouds will be discontinued.

2. We will continue to use 3-ply bags until the quantity in inventory is consumed. We will then go to the slightly larger two-ply bags for future packaging. Lead-time on ordering the two-ply bags should be based upon expected delivery schedules.

3. Pallets will be adequately glued in order to maintain integrity during shipment without shrouds.

4. We will continue to follow current practice with regard to use of the heat-sealed polyethylene envelopes until the shrink-film tunnel now on order is installed as part of the RG-244 circuit expansion.

5. Marketing will notify all RG-244 customers that the paper shortage necessitates elimination of the cardboard shroud.
