Dear Mr. Myers,

Thank you for your letter of July 13. May I assure you that all of the questions you have brought up concerning the size of the "a" logo, the colours to be used and the positioning on the bag have been discussed with representatives of all the major producers in the world except Australia, Yugoslavia and Russia. The points which you raise have all been considered. The fact that two colour printing will add cost has been discussed. The desireability of having the logo adjacent to the caution label has been discussed.

It was the unanimous opinion that although the printing in the form prescribed might cause difficulties in some instances, it is extremely important to have the logo as close as possible to that currently in use by A.I.A., if it is to have the impact that we must have if we are to head off the imposition of the skull and cross bones logo which would label asbestos as a toxic material.

I attach a copy of the decisions taken in London and I will shortly be forwarding the sample printing on a J-M bag for your guidance. The logo will be printed in the agreed upon colours and size.

- will carry no wording
