Convention Call

The Eleventh Convention of the International Association of Heat and Frost Insulators and Asbestos Workers will be called to order at ten a. m. on Monday, October 6th, in the Roof Garden atop the Hotel Tuller, Detroit, Mich. Affiliated Local Unions are entitled to representation in proportion to one delegate for the Union proper and one additional delegate for each one hundred of the membership or fraction thereof. Inasmuch as our existing trade laws have been tried out for the past three years, each Local Union should be represented at the forthcoming Convention in order that it may give official expression and have voice and vote in the framing of future laws that will govern our craft. For the guidance of delegates it should be remembered that rules governing Conventions generally fix the hour of noon of the second day's session as the time limit for the introduction of resolutions, and that all resolutions must be presented in duplicate form. Subject matter intended for consideration can only be officially recognized at Conventions when introduced by accredited delegates and in manner prescribed by rules governing same. Judging from the number of credentials already filed at General Office the forthcoming Convention will by far be the largest numerical trade gathering in the history of the Asbestos Workers. Chairman Brinker of Local 25 Entertainment Committee wishes it be made known that a real live welcome awaits the attending delegates, and that neither time nor expense will be spared in the effort being made to entertain them, and their women folks, who are herewith invited to accompany them. For all general information, rates, reservations, etc., address Edward Brinker, 333 Cass Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

General President's Report

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 31, 1919.

Greeting:—Your President left our General Office at St. Louis, from ...ich city his last report was submitted, and returned again to the fighting ...e at Cincinnati. He remained at the latter city some ten days, during ...ich time nothing of trade note developed, as both the Employers' Asso...tion and Local 8 remained deadlocked and marked time. He then left ...r the East only to be called back to Cincinnati four days later for trade ...nference. This conference was marked by the stubborn insistence of the ...mployers' Association to retain the objectionable phraseology in their ...offered trade agreement that your President had already strenuously ...jected to (virtually open shop), as also did the Employers wage offer ...ll far below that which Local 8 considered fair for either a one, two or ...ree year trade agreement. This six-hour session failed to bring about a ...ettlement, and after your President had assured himself that no immediate ...armony was in sight he left for Washington, D. C., on executive business, ...fter which he reached Atlantic City one day in advance of the Building ...rades Convention, in order to represent our craft at an expected conference to be held between the representatives of the various Building Trades crafts and the representatives of the Maintenance and Ways Employes' Associa...on over the question of jurisdictional infringement arising from many ...omplaints during the past year. The latter named organization failed to ...ave its representatives on the scene, and the matter was referred to the ...uilding Trades Convention, wherein a satisfactory manner of settlement ...as arrived at. The Convention of the Building Trades Department which ...ollowed developed nothing worthy of note during its week of deliberations that would interest our craft, outside of the fact that for a few days your President had company in the persons of Secretary McNamara and Business ...gent Kennedy of Local 17. Then came the Convention of the parent ...ody, the American Federation of Labor, the major doing of which was ...iven unusual space as "front sheet" press matter daily and was doubtless ...ead by the rank and file at more length and in greater detail than the columns of this Journal would allow your President should he be inclined ...o "feature" it. Suffice to say that it was the largest attended Convention in the history of the American Trade Union Movement, as well as the most progressive, as its adopted program bears testimony to. President Gompers was re-elected without opposition with a salary increase of $2,500 per annum (salary now $10,000), as was Secretary Morrison, with a similar wage increase (salary now $7,500). President Alpine of the United Association re-gned as Vice-President, and the vacancy so caused was filled by the election

f Matthew Woll, the International President of the Photo-Engravers' Union. The Convention adopted the policy now in effect in many crafts ncluding the Asbestos Worker) of referring the naming of the next Con-ention city to the Executive Board. The Convention also voted all organzers eight dollars daily wage with six dollars daily expense. During the Convention your President made a flying trip as one member of a committee called by President John Donlin of the Building Trades Department to confer with the Building Trades Employers' Association at New York City in re the Plasterers' situation, which craft was then in idleness since April over a combination issue of increased wage and foremanship rule (at this writing this issue is still undecided), after which your President returned to Atlantic City with the committee. The A. F. of L. Convention this year ran into the first day of the third week, and only adjourned in time to enable your President to be in attendance at the meeting of Local 14 at Philadelphia, on which occasion no incident worth recording came to his attention. Then to Washington again on executive business, after which your President made a visit to Hog Island to represent our craft at the ceremonies attending the launching of the good ship "Afel" (A. F. of L.), on which occasion Business Agent Hawes represented Local 14, whose membership execute this Ship Yard work. President Gompers made the "long talk" and was presented with a most unique and costly design of ship's clock. The sponsor was Miss Sarah Conboy of the Textile Workers, who was the recipient of a solid silver set. The good ship "Afel" took to the water like the proverbial duck without hitch or mishap. The next day found your President at the quarterly session of the "New England States Joint Conference Board," at New Haven, Conn., where certain issues were given consideration for the best of trade interests. In passing, let it be said that this Board has already more than justified its claim for trade existence by "cleaning up" at least one non-Union plant situated in "Open" territory within New England. The next day found your President en route to Cincinnati, which city convinced him, after a short stay, that the dove of peace would not alight, after which he moved on to Louisville on certain trade business.
Then came the city of Indianapolis and a visit to Bricklayers' headquarters in re jurisdiction dispute, upon which your President later advised the Local Union interested. Then to Chicago for a short stop, during which Vice-President Holland and Business Agent Kennedy of Local 17 were met with.
Then on to Detroit, where your President attended a conference of the Joint Trade Board, on which occasion our Detroit Employers offered Local 25 a one year agreement calling for a wage rate of 80 cents, which was met by a counter proposition from Local 25 that included a $7.50 working day for six months, and the one dollar hour the remaining six months of a one year agreement (Local 25 contemplates going on strike August 1st to support these demands). Your President then journeyed to Buffalo, at which city he met Vice-President Rice, with whom he discussed minor trade issues and to

;om he referred them for final action, if any. Your President then jour-;ed down state and represented our craft at the "Reconstruction Con-;ence" held at the capitol city of Albany, which resulted in the order ;ing issued to build the new Sing Sing prison and certain other state ;stitution building projects, all of which means work for the idle craftsmen ; the Building Trades in the Empire State. Your President then returned ;. Cincinnati, where he continued in conference with Employers and Local ; Committee, which after days of wrangling finally succeeded in having the Employers accept his form of Agreement, which eliminates each and every objectionable clause that featured the so-called "Employers' Agreement," and which left nothing but the wage clause open for discussion. The wage issue at Cincinnati has been definitely decided upon by a special meeting of Local 8, with your President in attendance, at which time the Employers' ast offer of an 80, 85 and 90 cent hour for a three year agreement was unan-;mously rejected by secret ballot, and the Local re-endorsed its previous wage demand of 81¼, 87½ and 95 cents hour, which is identical with the wage rate now given the Steam Fitters, who signed up and returned to work two weeks ago, after an eleven week strike siege. Your President next ran over to General Office and spent a day with Secretary McNamara at headquarters, after which he returned to Cincinnati, from which city this report is submitted at the completion of the fifteenth week of strike for Local No. 8, who are just as firm in their resolve to better their working conditions as they were the first day they went "on the bricks."

Joseph A. Mullaney

DANIEL WEBSTER ON LABOR.

It is employment that makes the people happy. This great truth ought never to be forgotten. It ought to be placed upon the title page of every book on political economy intended for America. It ought to head the columns of every farmer's magazine and mechanic's magazine. It should be proclaimed everywhere "that where there is work for the hands, there is work for the tooth; where there is employment there will be bread" And in a country like ours, above all others, will this truth hold good. If they can obtain fair compensation for their labor they will have good houses, good clothing, good food, and the means of educating their families. Labor will be cheerful and the people happy. The great intent of this great country is labor, labor, labor.

100 GLASSES.

If a man drank 100 glasses of 2¾ per cent beer, says Chairman Volstead of the House Judiciary Committee, he would absorb 14 big glasses of whisky. The Volstead mathematics, let us hasten to confess, is beyond our ken, even as the bibulous demonstration is beyond our wildest imagination. But granting that it could be done and that the calculation is correct our opinion is that, after the performance, the performer, even though he be a drastic prohibitionist, would be feeling pretty good.

But what would be the result, one wonders, if a man drank 100 glasses of buttermilk. Would he feel like a cottage cheese raised, say, to the dimensions of the Railway Exchange Building? Or if a man drank a hundred glasses of lemonade, would he feel as if he owned Florida, California and a large slice of tropical America? Or if a daring adventurer should tuck away a hundred glasses of grape juice, would he feel like William Jennings Bryan?

Perhaps our $7500-a-year Congressmen can answer these questions.

HIS WIFE DID IT.

A man who had been drinking too much liquor for his own good, was induced to sign the pledge the other day. His wife was delighted. She took the document and said:

"You must let me have it. I will keep it for you."

So the paper was confined to her custody. On the next day the man was drinking again as freely as before.

"How is that?" asked a friend. "You signed the pledge yesterday, and now you are drinking whisky again."

"It's all right," replied the pledge-signer in unsteady tones, "I don't have to keep that pledge. My wife says she'll keep it for me. That's the kind of a wife to have, old fellow."—Chicago Herald.

;T OF HANDLING MEN THAT WORK FOR YOU.

Business men often fail because they not know how to handle men. They do their own work all right, but y are failures when it comes to di- ting others. They lack tact, diplo- cy.

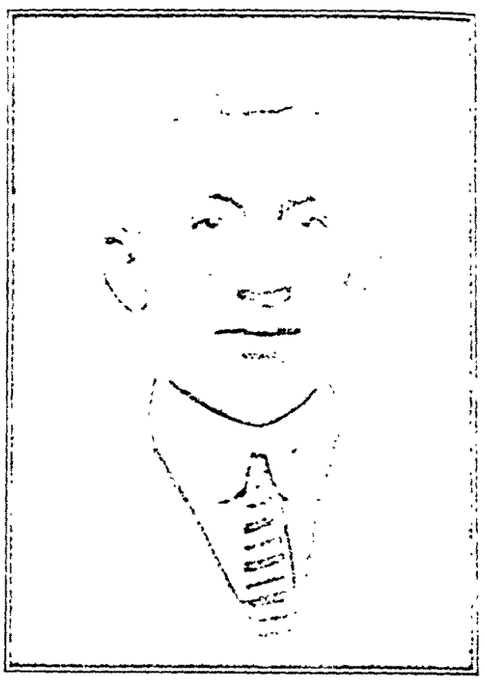

Many men antagonize others; they k patience, lose temper, fly to pieces r little things. And no man is a d leader who cannot control him- f.

A great many business men seem to nk that it takes a deal of driving, olding, fault finding to get the best t of others. It is, however, just the posite. Employes never give up eir best in response to forcing meth- s.

I know a young man who promises be a leader in his line who is as quiet d gentlemanly in his methods as a odest woman. He never raises his ice, never gets angry. When an mployc needs correcting, instead of olding and nagging, he sits right own and shows him or her just how do the thing. He tries to help them t of their difficulty, not to confuse em. He does not need to scold, be- use everybody respects him, admires im, and knows that he is always try- g to do a fair thing, to give a square al, that he wants only what is just ght, and there is nothing arbitrary his methods.

The result is, he does not need to orm around his establishment and use usive, profane language. He knows here is a stronger force, a better way han that. The result is that he has erfect discipline.—Success Magazine.

A MEMBER OF LOCAL No. 14, PHILADELPHIA, PA., WHO PAID THE SUPREME SACRIFICE.

BRO. A. F. WALTERS

The above is a good likeness of Bro. A. Walters, one of the old and reliable members of Local No. 14, who was killed in action in France.

The resolution which appeared in the last issue of the Journal is the true sentiments of the Local.

To Arms!

The pretty girl was eagerly watching the drill at a training camp when a rifle volley crashed out. With a nice, decorous, surprised little scream she shrank back into the arms of the young man standing behind her.

"Oh!" she cried, blushing, "I was frightened by the rifles. I beg your pardon."

"No need," he replied, quickly. "Let's go over there and watch the artillery."—The Sheet of Brass.

Vol. 2 JULY, 1919. No. 12

At 80 Mr. Rockefeller says he has just begun to live. But what some oil investors in the Southwest want to know is whether he has learned to let live.

There is no use trying, you cannot defeat an opponent who has right on his side. You may aparently gain in the conflict, but your gain will be a temporary one. Your utter defeat may be slow, but it will be as sure as the sun rises and sets.

There are three kinds of knowing—knowing what, knowing how, and knowing when. Use all three by doing.

The man who keeps his mouth shut never has to eat his words.

There is little satisfaction in putting off till tomorrow what ought to be done today. Put it off till next week.

If anybody will total the money he has received in ten years he will wonder what became of it.

So let us continue to work together in the spirit that we should not put our own interests above the interests of the Nation.

Whatever was true before the war it certainly now is to the interest of all to co-operate in every way.

If the senate wants to hear the country say "all is forgiven," it will ratify the peace treaty and get after the high cost at once.

On the Good in Everybody.

It is said that there is good in everybody, and only lately has this statement been denied:

Some people were made to be soldiers.
And the Irish were made to be cops;
Sauerkraut was made for the Germans.
And sphaghetti was made for the Wops.
Fish were made to drink water,
And men were made to drink booze;
Banks were made to hold money,
And beds were made for a snooze.
Everything was made for something,
There's even a use for a miser;
God made Wilson for President,
But who in the h—— made the Kaiser?

Secretary-Treasurer's Report

July 30, 1919.

GREETING:—Since my last report we have had one of the most successful Quarters in the history of our Association, and as this will be my last report before the next Convention, your attention is again called to the CONVENTION CALL which appears on page 2 of this issue, and from the number of credentials received this will be the banner Convention of the Association.

CHARTERS APPLIED FOR.

In the last Quarter I only received one application for Charter, and whose charter fee was returned, due to the fact that the men who applied for same were in the manufacturing of our material and not applying it, and worked in the factories and not on construction work.

LOCAL CONDITIONS.

The trade conditions from all reports sent in at this time are rather slow, but with a very good prospect. Several of our Locals have entered into Agreements; namely, our Local at Minneapolis and St. Paul have signed up for 75 cents per hour; Des Moines, Ia., one of our newest Locals, have entered into an Agreement also for 75 cents. Our Pittsburgh Local were given a voluntary increase to 75 cents until December 31, 1919, and 80 cents after that date. Our Cincinnati Local, which has been on strike, have signed up for 81¼ cents per hour for the first year; 88½ cents for the second year and 95 cents for the third year. Our Local at Cleveland has signed up for 80 cents per hour, and have just received word from Detroit, Local No. 25, that they have signed up for $7.50 per day, or 93¾ cents per hour, and several of our Locals are at this time in conference with their Employers.

FINANCES.

The Finances of the Association are in a more healthier condition at this time than at any time in the history of our Organization, as you will note from the Quarterly report recently sent out.

VISITS.

June 2nd I visited Pittsburgh, on my way to Atlantic City, and met cutive Board of the Local, and after going over several matters and ng them on same, left for Philadelphia. While at Pittsburgh I met Vice-President Wm. C. Landis. Arriving at Philadelphia met .. Agent A. G. Hawes, who informed me that he could use at least chanics for some time to come of our striking Local at Cincinnati. iately wired the Local and made arrangements for the men. Leav- adelphia went to Atlantic City and attended the Convention of the Trades Department in company with Jos. A. Mullaney, our dele- d Business Agent A. J. Kennedy of Chicago. The Convention of partment was very mild and nothing worthy of note pertaining to e was discussed. The big matter of the Convention was the adop- the plan of the National Board of Jurisdiction Awards. After a discussion on same was adopted. The plan in full appeared in the edition of our Journal. Leaving Atlantic City visited New York t Business Agent Dan. Neary of the New York Local, and after ver several matters with him proceeded to Cincinnati, as per my ments. Arrived at Cincinnati, met the Executive Board of the Local led for a special meeting for that night, at which time I explained the offer of the Philadelphia Local, and made arrangements for ten leave. At that time both sides were holding fast, and our men in iful mood, although at that time on strike for some twelve weeks. nce have received official communication stating that after sixteen f strike and not losing a man, they have entered into an agreement ee years; namely, 81¼ cents for the first year, 88½ cents for the year, and 95 cents for the third year. A full report of the strike will out later. Great credit should be given the men and the officers way they conducted said strike. The following are the men who have awn, transferred, lapsed and who were issued traveling cards and new ers of our Association:

THE "KNOCKER" AND HIS OFFICERS.

The "union knocker" is a suspicious member, far below the average of intelligence, who nightly dreams of the final disposition of his local's combined dues and assessments that he sees paid into the treasury. Constantly in his mind's eye there dwells a picture of his national president speeding over the continent in a Pullman observation car, with his feet softly reposing on a red plush cushion, while all around him is a litter of champagne bottles and the stubs of some one dollar brand of imported cigar. In the same picture he can see the local delegate playing the races every day and losing three times the amount of his salary, while in the background is some suburban real estate office in which every member of the executive board is buying lots.

We are not going to publish this fellow's name, but he is in your local and you know him. He is more than three months in arrears, owes for death assessments, got five dollars from your local delegate on a hard luck "wife and children" story, and is now holding a job which he got through the intercession of the National President. When you get through reading this show it to him.

Uncle Sam still is selling Thrift Stamps—and they are still good things to buy. Safety, good interest, no trouble to turn them into cash. Get some, and keep getting them.

DAY FOR BRICKLAYERS.

Pa.—Building contractors granted the demands of the brick- for $1 a day increase. Accompg the increase is a proviso that will be paid to protect the subactors, made necessary because foreigners are taking day work

EW SCALE $7 PER DAY.

Antonio, Texas.—Electrical kers' Union No. 60 negotiated a scale of $7 a day and a 44-hour with double time for overtime. old rate was $6.

255 SHIPS LAUNCHED.

ashington.—During the months pril and May last 255 ships were ched in the ship yards of the Unitates. During the same months in 120 ships were launched, accordto the bulletin of the United States ping Board. These ships have a combined tonnage of 880,000.

"HANDS OFF UNIONS."

ashington.—"Keep hands off unions" is the essence of a recent to officers of the ordnance dement of the army by Brigadier ral Pierce, acting chief of ordce. The order is directed to offiin charge of workers and declares "it must be clearly understood there shall be no abridgment of ght of men to join societies, assoons or unions of any kind, and no tations upon conferences between esentatives of those bodies and the er ordnance representatives."

98 BATTLE DEATHS IN A. E. F.; 205,690 WOUNDED

ashington, D. C.—Final casualty orts from the Central Records Oi- of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, made public by the War Department today, gave the total battle deaths as 49,498, total wounded 205,690, and prisoners 4,487.

"Only slight revisions" will be made in this report, it was announced.

Recent corrections in the list of missing have reduced the number to only 127 names, as compared with 264,000 for France and 121,000 for England.

To July 1 the army had reported 149,433 cases of disabled soldiers to the War-Risk Insurance Bureau. It was estimated that the final total would be close to 200,000.

NO INDIVIDUAL ACTION.

Washington.—In a letter to Director General of Railroads Hines, President Wilson has notified railroad shop men who are engaged in an unauthorized strike that their wage demands can be considered only "through the duly chosen international officers or the regularly constituted organizations and their authorized committees."

Trade unionists are contrasting this declaration by the president of the United States with the attitude of the steel trust, telegraph companies and other employers of labor who insist on bargaining with individual employes, and who refuse to meet representatives of these employes.

In addressing congress on the high cost of living, the president said:

"There are many things that ought to be corrected in the relation between capital and labor in respect of wages and conditions of labor and other things, even more far-reaching, and I, for one, am ready to go into conference about these matters with any group of my fellow-countrymen who know what they are talking about and are willing to remedy existing conditions by frank counsel rather than by violent contest."

E BIG UNION" CONSTI- TION IS BASED ON KAI- SER BILL'S IDEAL.

monton, Alberta, Canada.—The nton Free Press asks one big advocates if they believe their tution will be swallowed by so- "pure and simple" trade union-

Free Press is the official news- of the Edmonton Trades and Council. It shows that the o. favor the building of a machine aled by the tightest trade union ine evolved from the wildest y of o. b. u. orators.

der the o. b. u. constitution con- ons will be held every six months te the criticism that trade union- old too many conventions.

Think of delegates," says the Free ss, "attending conventions every months for the purpose of electing ers. It is a joke. Such intelli- e is offered 'pure and simple mind- rade unionists."

e constitution provides that the ral executive board shall fill va- ies occurring on said board by ing representatives from the industrial division.

is," says the Free Press, "is a y. It is complete autocracy. It work thusly: Johnson, who is prepared to turn loose all he holds gnore the dictates of his own con- ce is removed by the machine in district or central council. The ex- ive board appoints their friend s.

t is claimed that there is a com- recall system. The local unit withdraw credentials of any of- and should the recall instituted the local unit be warranted, the entials shall be revoked and a re- quest made that the executive board immediately fill the vacancy. The placing and keeping of this power in the hands of the select five is made complete."

The constitution further provides that if a union fails to secure the sanction of the general executive board and orders a strike, it does so on its own responsibility. The Free Press says:

"Well, seeing there are no strike funds to meet such emergencies, whose responsibility could it be?"

Despite the mass of generalities about "democracy," the o. b. u. constitution gives officials power that no trade unionist would dare advocate. This is shown in strikes where the Central Labor Council or District Board may refer same to the General Executive Board if it is "considered of sufficient importance to the workers." If the strikers' plea for aid is denied they may ask the General Executive Board to act, and then, if this board considers the matter of "sufficient importance" it shall call on the subordinate boards to again consider the matter, and if said boards then favor a strike "the General Executive Board shall be empowered to call a strike of all affiliated bodies."

Nowhere in the constitution is it provided that the rank and file shall have a direct vote in the calling of strikes—they must listen to speeches about the future while their officials decide whether wage and other movements of these workers is of "sufficient importance" to attract their attention.

The constitution is a perfect illustration of rulership from the top with this cheap attempt at autocracy camouflaged by attacks on the bona fide trade union movement.

What the figures would be for the average man I hate to think of; and still our employers wonder what we do with our big wages.

It has been a constant strife to secure any concessions, and I suppose other locals have had the same experience.

Many of our members have reached the autumn of life, and if their endeavors and privations has lightened the burden of those to come, I know they will say well done. For it is the duty of the workers of today to improve conditions for those of tomorrow.

J. F. GRADY,
Local No. 17.

Washington, D. C., July 25, 1919.

To the Secretaries of the National and International Unions, State Federations of Labor and Central Labor Unions.

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

The Atlantic City convention of the American Federation of Labor, held June 9-23, considered the dispute between organized labor and the Willys-Overland Company, Toledo, Ohio, automobile manufacturers, the basis of which is, briefly, as follows:

Published by AsbestosClaims.Law asbestosclaims.law/library/21337/18

the past three years the eight-day, with Saturday half-holiday, prevailed in the plants of the Willys-Overland Company. On May 5th, negotiations for a new wage agreement were in progress, the company arbitrarily increased the working from the forty-five-hour basic to the forty-eight-hour basic and, denying the right of collective bargaining, insisted that instead meeting committees selected by the trades unions to negotiate wages and conditions, all committees in the plants must be selected under a plan prepared by the company. The members of the various labor unions involved insisted upon maintaining the conditions which organized labor had established in the plants, which resulted in a lockout by the company.

In an effort to aid in an adjustment the convention authorized President Gompers to name a committee of two to proceed to Toledo for the purpose of an interview with the management. Messrs. C. L. Baine, Secretary-Treasurer of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, and Mr. John A. Voll, President of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada, were selected and proceeded to Toledo on the mission.

At a meeting of the Executive Council held immediately upon the adjournment of the convention, the special committee reported that they had visited Toledo for the purpose of aiding in an honorable adjustment of the matters in dispute between the organizations involved and the company, but that their efforts were repulsed, the company insisting upon its own arbitrary course.

The convention considered a resolution which requested the national and international unions to circularize their local unions and that the Secretary of the American Federation of Labor communicate with all Central Labor Unions, calling attention to the unfair attitude of the Willys-Overland Company toward union labor, and decided that this action should be taken in the event that the special committee should fail in its efforts to promote an adjustment.

Pursuant to the action of the convention and the refusal of the company to grant recognition of the rights and interests of our fellow workers involved in this dispute, the Executive Council directed that these facts should be communicated to all organized labor and friends.

FRANK MORRISON,
Secretary,
American Federation of Labor.

Cleveland, June 27, 1919.

Mr. Thos. McNamara,
St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir and Brother:

Referring to R. Walsh, Register No. 506, formerly a member of Local No. 3, I wish to state that he was draited into the army and was given a withdrawal card. After having been in the army about six months he requested and received a special order from the Government to be placed at pipe covering on the boats of the Emergency Fleet. He was placed in the ship yard at Ashtabula, Ohio. He worked there about six or eight months or till December 19, 1918, when he, on that date, received his discharge from the army.

We had requested him several times to deposit his card back in the Local. Up to that time, and since he received his discharge (he still is working in that yard), we have sent a committee to see him and have written him letters, but he ignores them all.

We, the members of Local No. 3, think this man should be placed as unfair to the organization, and that the above letter should be published in the Journal, so that all Locals would know what kind of a bird he is. That job will not last forever, and he will be looking to get back into some Local some time in the future.

Local No. 3 voted unanimously to expel him.

Yours fraternally,
L. E. FASSETT,
2450 E. 9th St.,
Cleveland, O.

"THOU SHALT NOT."

AMERICAN FEDERATIONIST

For the first time in the history of e United States the Constitution of e country now has as a part of it provision that declares "thou shalt ot." This is the first provision in e Constitution which denies rights the people of America. Every ther declaration in that document, hich we believe to be the best of s kind in the world, is a provision guaranteeing rights to open the way freedom. The American labor ovement believes that the Constitu- on should remain what it always has een, a guarantee of rights and an pen door to freedom. It is a time or grave apprehension when the Con- titution forsakes its traditional char- acter of positive declaration and begins to take on the character of abridg- ment. The issue now placed before the people by the last amendment to the Constitution is not prohibition. The issue is whether a beverage prod- act of 2.75 per cent alcohol may be made and sold.

The trade union movement of the United States does not come to the defense of alcohol. It has no word to say in behalf of intoxicating liquors. No force in our country has been as effective in the promotion of temper- ance among working people as the or- ganized labor movement. The labor movement has achieved more for the cause of temperance than all the tem- perance societies combined, but we challenge the right of any one to pre- scribe by law the morals or the habits of the people of the United States through any act that restricts them in the exercise of normal activities. We deny the right to remedy abuses prac- ticed by a few through denial to the whole people of a right and privilege which they desire and which is neither harmful or immoral.

Were we living in normal times the result of such an abridgment of liberty might not be such a serious cause for apprehension, though the injustice of it would be flagrant. The situation as we find it today is that a grave injus- tice is being done to the masses of the people at a time when but a few things are normal. We have just gone through a strain upon body and soul and mind, a strain upon industry and a strain upon our social structure. It is not a time for rash experiment, nor is it a time for the practice of unjust repression.

At its convention just held in At- lantic City, the American Federation of Labor, by a vote of more than 26,- 000 to 4,000 declared itself in opposi- tion to any measure designed to pre- vent the manufacture of beverages containing not more than 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight. This is truly the voice of the working people of the United States, the chief sufferers of the injustice calculated by the last amendment to the Constitution. That beer, so made, is not an intoxicant has been amply proven. The evil has been wrought by those who have seen a wrong, and who, in their zeal to eliminate the wrong, have killed with it that which was right and good.

If America is to proceed as it has proceeded in the enactment of the eighteenth amendment, the institu- tions of our country will lose their character, and we shall find ourselves turning from a nation of broadening liberties to a nation of narrow-minded restrictions, which followed to the conclusion means decay and death. This must not be.
